Reaction Mixed On Sabin III

Some States Adopt Wait and See Policy

By The Associated Press
Some states have decided to discontinue use of Sabin Type III polio vaccine, but state and local officials in a number of places have adopted a wait and see policy.

Sabin oral vaccine Types I and II will continue to be used generally, checks across the country indicate.

Reaction was mixed after the U.S. Public Health Service announced in Washington Saturday that 11 confirmed cases of Type III polio provided sufficient evidence "to indicate that at least some of these cases have been caused by Type III vaccines."

The special advisory committee of the health service said all 11 confirmed cases occurred in adults. The service recommended limiting the use of Type III vaccine to immunization programs for pre-school and school age children. Continued use of Types I and II for everyone was recommended by the health service.

Secretary Anthony J. Celebrezze—whose Health, Education and Welfare Department embraces the Public Health Service—said Sunday on the NBC television program "Meet the Press" that the odds are one million to one against an adult who has taken Type III Sabin oral vaccine developing the disease.

Celebrezze said that with these odds, he would be willing to take the vaccine himself.

He said that decisions on the vaccine were made by Surgeon General Luther Terry and other experts and by local health officials.

Final decision on whether Type III should be given to adults in mass immunization programs would be made by local authorities even if there was no question about safety, he said.

Celebrezze said there was no incident involving a child who had taken Type III oral vaccine.

A newsman then said Public Health Service records showed that at least four children developed polio after taking Type III oral vaccine.

Celebrezze replied: "The cases which we cited are those in which there was considered to be a relationship between the vaccine and the disease."

The secretary added that in the children's cases cited by the newsman, no direct relationship between the vaccine and the con-

UF Advance Gifts Committee Busy

Although the city's United Appeal fund drive will not begin until Oct. 9, the Advanced Gifts Committee of the Community Fund started preliminary work today in an effort to provide a good financial foundation for the all-important effort.

George W. Baillie, Jr., who is manager of the Heavy Equipment Division here for the E. W. Bliss Company, is chairman of the Advance Gifts Committee. Assisting him as co-chairmen are George Perrault Jr., James H. Wilson Sr., F. Troy Cope Jr., and Rolland F. Webber.

Other members of this executive group are Louis A. Mattevi, Glenn T. Harding, E. M. Stephenson, Al G. Tame, Robert W. Campbell, Robert Potter, Leon Colley, Floyd W. McKee, George B. Emery, William J. McKay, W. Eugene Young, George W. Rogers, Walter F. Deming, James Wilson Jr., Al A. Parker, John D. Mulford, C. Harold Musser, Edward Thomas, Frank V. Stauffer, and Victor Zerbis Jr.

One Injured In Weekend Road Mishaps

Four minor accidents over the weekend were investigated by the Lisbon State Highway Patrol, with one minor injury reported.

Nadean Hamilton sustained a small laceration of the forehead when the car in which she was riding was forced off the road into a utility pole Sunday night, the Patrol reported.

The car, driven by James Hamilton, 34, New Waterford, was headed south on Township Road two miles north of State Route 154 when a car approached him on a curve and he swerved to avoid being hit, the Patrol reported.

The other driver, Donald Wisle, 19, Rt. 2, Leetonia, was cited by the Patrol for failing to yield his half of the roadway.

In a two-car accident Saturday night, cars driven by Aloysius F. Arntz, 54, Canton, and James A. Simms, 19, Minerva, collided on Route 62, one-half mile east of Westville.

Arntz was attempting to pass the Simms car making a right hand turn and struck Simms. There were no injuries or arrest.

Three mailboxes and minor property damage resulted in a one-car accident early Sunday morning on County Road Route 410, two miles south of Salem, when a car driven by Gary Hartzell, 22, RD 3, Salem, went off the left side of the road.

Hartzell was cited by the Patrol for driving left of center.

The final accident of the weekend occurred Sunday night on Route 410, two miles south of Route 62, when cars driven by Melvin L. Thomas, 25, and Robert E. Swanson, 27, both Homeworth, collided.

According to the Patrol, Thomas was attempting to pass another automobile and struck the Swanson car. Thomas was cited for passing without maintaining a safe distance.

Supt. of Schools Paul E. Smith is general chairman for the United Appeals campaign which will be "kicked off" at a dinner meeting of team workers Monday evening, Oct. 8, at the Memorial Building. The fund goal is $82,000—unchanged from last year.

The Salem Community Fund Association, at its meeting Aug. 14, approved the following budgets for the participating "red feather" agencies:

Boy Scouts, $6,500; Catholic Charities, $3,825; Central Clinic & Hospital, $2,250; Salem Girl Scouts, $4,750; Home for Aged Women, $1,650; Memorial Building, $13,750; Quaker City Band, $900.

Salem City Hospital, $4,500; School of Practical Nursing, $1,500; Salem Home Nursing Service, $3,300; Salvation Army, $8,000; Salem Y.W.C.A., $7,500; Administrative and campaign expense, $2,575; Salem Red Cross, $20,500.

Firemen Respond to 3 Weekend Alarms

Two trash fires and smoke coming from a building were responsible for bringing city firemen to the scene over the weekend, with no damage reported.

Fire alarms answered by the firefighters were trash burning Saturday night behind Schnell Tool and Die Corp., and burning papers in the alleyway of Dickey and Earl Feed Service Sunday morning.

Smoke reported at the Wolford barber shop at 192 E. State St. Sunday night again brought the fire department, with no damage reported.

1,000 Hear Rhodes At Rally In Lisbon

Says DiSalle Lacks Program to Help Ohio Prosper

Republican candidate for governor James A. Rhodes, speaking to 1,000 persons attending a Columbiana County GOP rally at the Lisbon fairgrounds Saturday evening, declared that the present administration of Gov. Michael DeSalle has demonstrated it has "an acute awareness of the state's needs and absolutely no programs whatever to meet them."

Rhodes, introduced by State Rep. Clarence Wetzel, spoke following a luncheon held in Flora hall. Atty. Charles A. Pike of Lisbon was general chairman.

State Auditor Rhodes, making a speaking tour of the state, came to Lisbon from Canton and appeared in Cincinnati yesterday.

IN HIS COLUMBIANA COUNTY appearance, Rhodes attacked the state's Department of Industrial and Economic Development, repeating his charge that "it has wasted 3½ years and $1.5 million giving away souvenir ashtrays and bolo ties, and buying pictures of the present governor."

He reviewed his plan for a new jobs and industrial development authority to attract new industry and expand existing plants in Ohio. Columbiana County is losing almost $7.5 million a year in retail sales because employment hasn't kept pace with the national average increase, Rhodes asserted.

"AS A MATTER OF FACT," Rhodes said, "this county lost

1,126 jobs from December, 1958 to December, 1961, a decline of 6.1 per cent. My figures are those produced by the administration's Bureau of Unemployment Compensation, the only business which is doing a thriving business these days."

Rhodes said the present administration is directly responsible for Ohio's faltering economy.

Rhodes said his proposed New Jobs and Industrial Development Authority is similar to plans operating in 33 states now. He said the self-financing plan would utilize revenue bonds "precisely the same as $41,000,000 worth sold in other states in 1961 according to the American Association of Bankers."

The gubernatorial candidate cited as an example of what can be done with such a plan the small town of Fort Smith, Arkansas, which has brought in new industry with a new jobs total of 6,000 in the past three years.

Fallout Danger Is Minimized

U. S. Board Sees No Peril at Present

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of Welfare Anthony J. Celebrezze says a federal board has found that radioactive fallout is not at dangerous levels in the United States at this time.

The group said it would not recommend the preventive and countermeasures taken recently when radioactivity counts shot to high levels in some areas.

The Federal Radiation Council, top-ranking government body dealing with the problems of radiation fallout, issued a report today on its meeting of a week ago. Celebrezze said Sunday in a television interview that the council had concluded there is no great danger to the nation from fallout at this time. He heads the group.

The council's report did not mention the areas involved or the

Senate Units Ponder Cuba Counteractions

WASHINGTON (AP)—Two Senate committees today wade into a series of proposals for dealing with the Communist arms buildup in Cuba.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk and Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara have been called to testify.

One of the Senate's largest hearing rooms serves as the setting for this joint meeting of the Foreign Relations and Armed Services committees. By Thursday, the groups must decide what proposals—if any—are to be attached to a resolution authorizing President Kennedy to muster 150,000 Reserves as he deems necessary.

In winning unanimous passage of the resolution last Thursday, Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana agreed that Republican-proposed riders be sent to the committees for separate consideration.

The show of unity behind Kennedy's request may come unhinged as the committees sift some of the suggestions on how the United States should get tough with Cuba.

Re-Election of U Thant by U.N. Foreseen

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) Diplomats from various parts of the world predicted today that the 17th General Assembly opening Tuesday will name U Thant of Burma to a full five-year term as secretary-general of the United Nations.

Thant is acting secretary-general, serving out the unexpired term of the late Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjöld that ends next April 10. He was elected last Nov. 3 after Hammarskjöld's death in a plane crash in Africa a year ago today.

U.S. delegate Charles W. Yost, previewing the assembly session Sunday, indicated that the U.S. delegation expects Thant to be re-elected.

Yost told New York area members of the American Association for the United Nations: "The performance of the acting secretary-general has been so outstanding and has met with such universal support among the members that we doubt if this will be the subject of serious controversy."

"We would be very much surprised if the Soviets were to raise again the matter of the troika, which was so decisively defeated last year."

In negotiations on Hammarskjöld's successor, the Soviet Union first insisted that the management of the United Nations be taken over by three of its under-secretaries—an American, an Indian and a Russian.

But this so-called troika plan proved unpopular, and the Russians later shelved it and joined in the election of Thant on condition he function with the counsel

Massachusetts Primary Tuesday

BOSTON (AP) Massachusetts voters decide Tuesday whether there are too many Kennedys in public life or if another of the clan should have a crack at high public office.

That seemed the overriding issue today as Edward M. Kennedy, 30, brother of President Kennedy, and Edward J. McCormack, 39, nephew of House Speaker John W. McCormack, climaxed a whirlwind campaign for a short-term U.S. Senate nomination.

At stake in November balloting is the remaining two years of the term Kennedy left behind to become president.

Two republicans will fight it out at the polling places for their party's nomination and the opportunity—if Kennedy should win his primary—to take the dynasty issue to the voters for a second round in the general election.

They are George C. Lodge, former assistant secretary of labor, and Rep. Laurence Curtis, 10-year member of Congress whose district was reapportioned out of existence.

Millions of words have been poured out by the candidates at street rallies, clambakes and on

Group Picked From Among 253 Candidates

2 Civilians on List; All Are 35 Years Old Or Younger

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Nine new astronauts, including two civilians, were added to the nation's space team today.

The new group boosted to 16 the number of astronauts who will man the space flights for which President John F. Kennedy has set a goal of reaching the moon in this decade.

Dr. Robert R. Gilruth, director of the Manned Spacecraft Center, formally presented the new group to the nation at an afternoon press conference at Cullen Auditorium on the campus of the University of Houston.

Preparing For Flight
Gilruth said the nine already have been assigned to a comprehensive training program at the center to prepare them for possible space flights.

In addition to the two civilians, the group includes four Air Force officers and three Navy officers. All have pilot experience.

The civilians are Neil A. Armstrong, 32, a native of Wapakoneta, Ohio, and currently a test pilot with the National Aeronautics and Space Administration at Edwards Air Force Base, Calif., and Elliot M. See Jr., 35, a native of Dallas, Tex., and experimental test pilot for the General Electric Co.

The Air Force men are: Maj. Frank Borman, 34, a native of Gary Ind., an instructor in the Aerospace Research Pilot School at Edwards AFB.

Capt. James A. McDivitt, 33, a native of Chicago, an experimental flight test officer at Edwards AFB.

Capt. Thomas P. Stafford, 32, a native of Weatherford, Okla., chief of the performance branch at the experimental test flight Experimental Test Pilot division of the Aerospace Research Pilot School at Edwards AFB.

Capt. Edward H. White II, 32, a native of San Antonio, Tex., an experimental test pilot at Wright-Patterson Air Force Base, Ohio.

The Navy officers are: Lt. Charles Conrad Jr., 32, a native of Philadelphia, a safety officer for Fighter Squadron 142. (His station was not specified).

Lt. Cmdr. James A. Lovell Jr., 34, a native of Cleveland, Ohio, a flight instructor and safety officer at the Naval Air Station at Oceana, Va.

Lt. Cmdr. John W. Young, 32, a native of San Francisco, maintenance officer for Fighter Squadron 53 at the Naval Air Station, Miramar, Calif.

The seven project Mercury astronauts selected in April 1959 included three Navy officers, three Air Force pilots and one Marine pilot.

Average Age 32.5 Years
The average age of the new astronauts is 32.5 years, as compared with 34.5 for the 1959 group at the time of their selection.

Gilruth said selection of the nine test pilots today culminates six months of extensive evaluation of qualifications of 253 volunteers from among military and civilian applicants.

A medical examination and other preliminary tests cut the group of candidates to 31. During July and August, the 31 were given comprehensive medical examinations.

During the week of Aug. 12, the 31 were brought to the spacecraft center here and were given a final evaluation through a final series of examinations, tests and interviews.

Gilruth said there were five basic qualifications for final selection:

Experience as a jet test pilot preferably presently engaged in flying high-performance aircraft. Experimental flight test status attained through military service, the aircraft industries for NASA or possession of a certificate of

Senate Opens Debate On Tariff Measure

Leaders hope for passage in a few days of the measure aimed at winning mutual trade concessions from other countries.

Carpenter Particular About Music He Hears

COLUMBUS OHIO (AP) There's at least one Columbus carpenter who is particular about the music he hears.

Capital University officials here became somewhat curious when a carpenter's work in the student union seemed to be proceeding slowly.

An investigation showed that the carpenter objected to rock and roll music played on the union's juke box. So, whenever anyone played such a tune, he simply stopped working.

The situation was remedied by putting a sign on the jukebox while the carpenter was at work. The sign read: "Out of order."

Man Hunted In Rape Of Two Young Girls

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — Summit County sheriff's deputies were searching for a 20-year-old white man today in connection with the alleged assault on two girls near Hudson.

Officials said the girls, ages 10 and 12, were playing in a farm field Sunday near their home when a man believed to be in his 20s stopped in a car.

The girls said he told them to get in the car because he was going to take them to the police for trespassing.

Officials quoted the girls as saying the man drove to a secluded spot, made them disrobe, assaulted them and then drove them back to where they had been playing.

The girls went home, told their parents of what had happened and the parents notified officials, deputies said.

would give the nation "a new and bold instrument of American trade policy" and has given it a top priority rating in his legislative program.

Many members of Kennedy's Cabinet and other high administration officials have gone to Capitol Hill during months of congressional hearings to plead for passage of the measure.

The House has passed the bill and the Senate Finance Committee has approved it, sending the bill to the floor Friday after a series of key votes resulting in unbroken administration victories.

However, several senators were ready to vote for amendments to knock out or water down major sections.

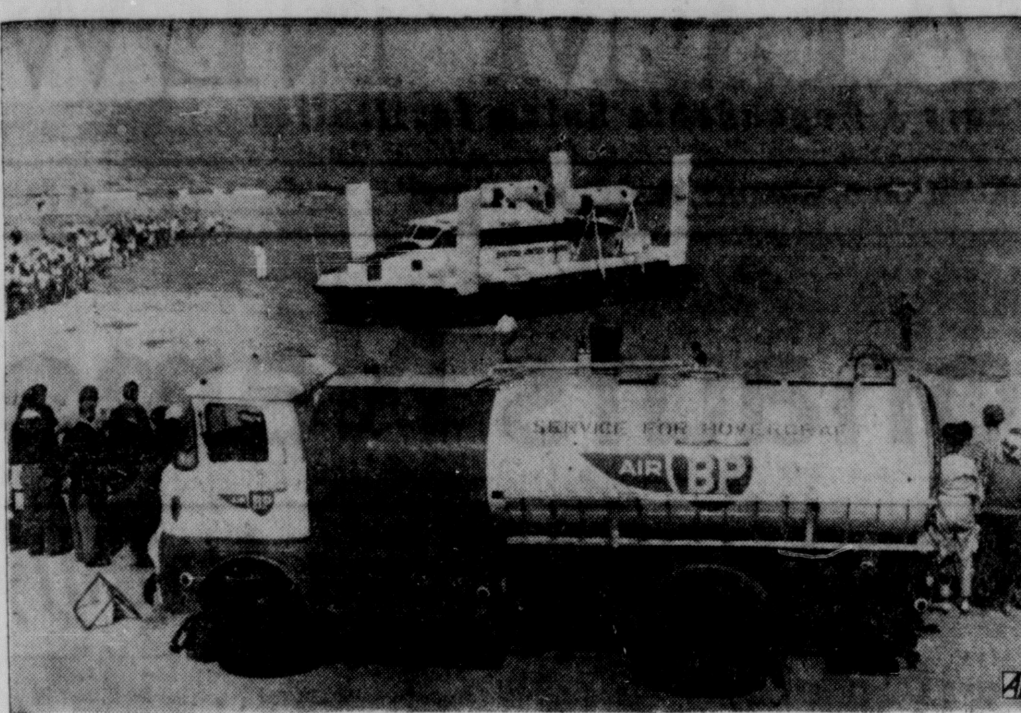

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana said he was prepared to run the Senate early and late on the bill. If it is passed speedily, Congress may be able to finish its business by Sept. 29, he said.

On Thursday the House will debate another major item standing in the way of adjournment—the foreign aid appropriations bill.

Senate-House conferees will meet during the week on such important measures as tax revision, federal aid for colleges, farm legislation and self-employed pensions.

The trade bill would extend the 28-year-old reciprocal trade law for another five years, authorize a 50 per cent cut in all present tariffs, give the President the right to wine out duties on products for which the United States and the European Common Market account for 80 per cent of world trade, and make possible a variety of government assistance for companies and workers harmed by imports.

Here're Reasons Why Some Water Heaters Don't Last

Today's quality water heaters are built to last for many years, and, properly sized according to a family's needs, will do so with little care required.

Eventually, though, comes the time for a plumbing contractor to replace the heater, and you should know the danger signs of a burning-out heater in order to avoid an inconvenient emergency.

First of all, says the Plumbing-Heating-Cooling Information Bureau, a good water heater usually does not wear out—the heating surfaces slowly burn out from abuse by the unknowing homeowner. If a water heater is overworked because it is not large enough, or because of built-up sediment in the tank, it clearly will not last as long as one of the right size that receives proper maintenance. (You can get rid of most sediment by draining out all muddy-looking water every month.)

Danger sign number one is the awareness that there never seems to be enough hot water. An undersized or sediment-encrusted heater cannot be expected to perform efficiently, and can rapidly burn out from the extra work load.

Another danger sign is a thumping or cracking sound from the heater when a hot water faucet is turned on. This happens when layers of sediment (caused primarily by hard water) build up on the floor of the tank and on the heating elements, producing a heat-retarding scale. The thumping is actually a series of small explosions of steam between the layers of scale.

Let your plumbing contractor be the guide in selection of a new water heater. His sizing charts will tell you what size your family needs, and he can advise you about water softening equipment if this is needed.

A final point to remember—if you buy a water heater with only a one-year manufacturer's guarantee, you're just playing a betting game with the manufacturer. A quality water heater is always the best buy.

Here Are Tips for Use of Paint Brushes and Rollers

Want to get an argument started? Place a paint brush manufacturer in the same room with a paint roller manufacturer. Ask which of their products is better. Then duck.

Nobody's ever going to settle this long-standing controversy, because the decision of the home handyman is based so much on personal preference. But whichever you use, here are some tips that will make your job easier and your result better:

PAINT BRUSHES — A quality brush usually will last more than twice as long as one which costs half as much. Also, a good brush will not shed much, picks up more paint and spreads it more smoothly. For large flat surfaces, a four-inch brush is recommended.

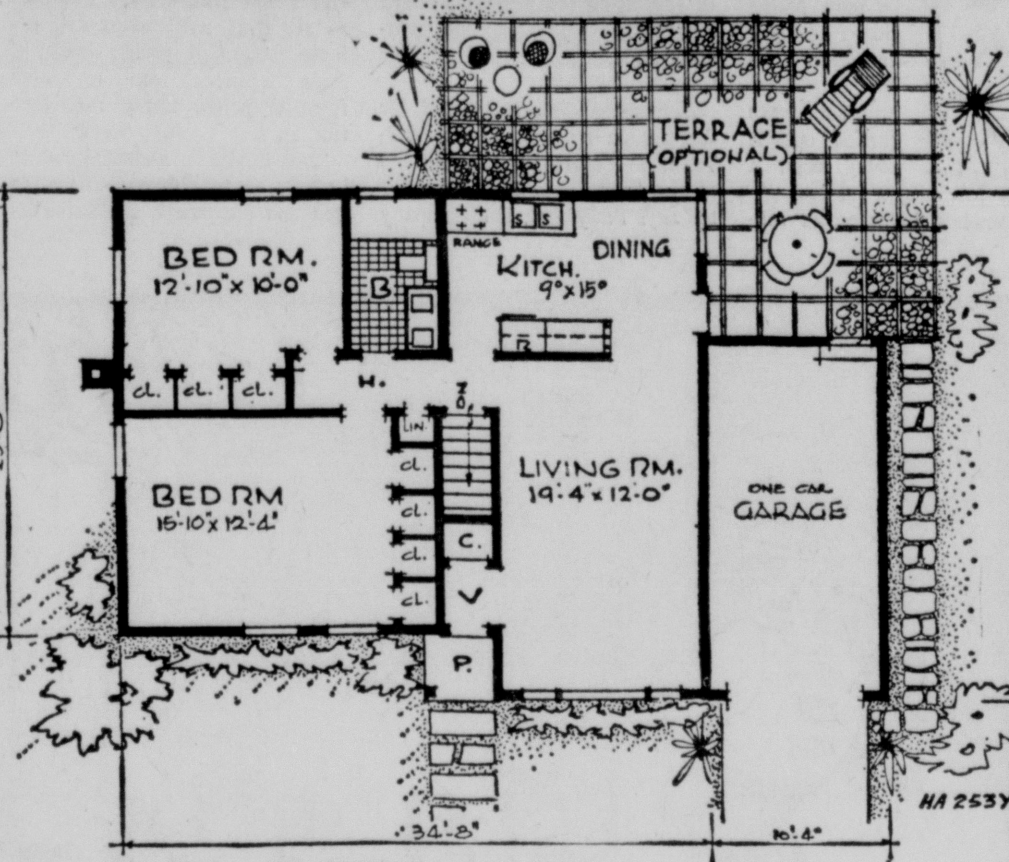

A trim or sash brush about two inches wide is best for woodwork, paneling and trim. A flat or oval sash brush from one to three inches is good for sashes, trellises, etc. Aside from those mentioned, there are many other types and sizes for particular tasks.

When using oil paints, clean the brush with turpentine or mineral spirits. For shellac, use denatured alcohol. For lacquer, use lacquer thinner. For latex paints and others in that category (check the label), use water. Never use a nylon brush for applying shellac.

A brush which is to be stored for any considerable period of time should be cleaned, then wrapped in aluminum foil, wax paper, newspaper, oilcloth or any similar type of wrapping. In storing, be certain that the bristles are not bent.

PAINT ROLLERS — All paint rollers are not alike. Those made from lambswool are excellent for most oil paints, but not for enamels or water-thinned latex paints. Rollers made from synthetic fibers and mohair can be used with all types of paint, with the mohair especially good for enamels.

The length of the nap or pile also is important. Use short-napped rollers for most walls, ceilings, woodwork and smooth concrete. Use long naps for brick, stucco, wire fences and other irregular surfaces. The smoother the surface to be painted, the shorter the nap of the roller.

FIRST FLOOR

COMFORTABLE COTTAGE—For a family requiring only two bedrooms, Homes for Americans Plan HA253Y offers large bedrooms, both with plenty of closet space. The spacious living room has a picture window facing the front and a long unbroken wall, ideal for furniture placement. The kitchen has a rear entrance. House square footage is 939, excluding garage, which may be omitted in the building. Herman H. York, 90-04 161 St., Jamaica 32, N. Y., designed HA253Y.

The rougher the surface, the longer the nap.

On vertical surfaces, the first stroke should be upward even if the general direction of the painting is downward. Follow with a downstroke and then roll crosswise. Start rolling in a dry area and toward one just painted, blending in the laps. Splattering is caused by rolling too fast and by spinning the roller at the end of the stroke.

previously has been filed roughly. In draw filing, it is important that only a very smooth file be used. The filing is not done in the normal manner, which is by pushing the file lengthwise straight ahead or slightly diagonally. Instead, the file is grasped with one hand at each end and pushed and pulled sideways across the work. In doing draw filing, an even pressure must be maintained at all times.

Here's the Answer

QUESTION: I began taking up metalworking as a hobby recently. In reading over various instructions for projects, I often run across the term "draw filing." Can you tell me what it means?

ANSWER: Draw filing is the finish filing which gives a smooth surface to a piece of metal that

Accessories Often Solution To 'New Look' In Bathroom

If you're not satisfied with the decor of your home's bathrooms, or if you feel 'something else' is needed to make them more livable, consider changing or adding to the accessories of the room.

A particularly dramatic change you might make is doing away with your old shower curtain alongside the bathtub, replacing it, with a fitted enclosure. You will find these available from all plumbing contractors, in plain and tempered (by far the best) glass, and in plastics ranging from adequate to very strong. Many of the glass enclosures are frosted to permit privacy (and some have attractive, frosted designs), and plastic ones come in various colors.

A smartly-styled tub enclosure can give a big lift to the looks of a bathroom. Other advantages, points out the Plumbing-Heating-Cooling Information Bureau: it will simplify cleaning, do away with the mildew smell of some shower curtains, and you will no longer have to be concerned about that mysterious puddle of water outside the tub.

While you're taking a hard look at your bathrooms, think about roomier medicine cabinets with more mirror space and better lighting. The better ones have special compartments to keep medicines out of small hands in the family.

And what about towel racks? Is there an extra one for a guest in your home?

Grab bars for tub and shower should certainly be on your bathroom improvement list. Many a bad fall has been prevented by these support bars.

Not to be overlooked in upgrading bathrooms are toilet seats. For the sake of sanitation, and for beauty, an old cracked and chipped seat should be replaced with one of the stylish, colorful new models.

Monroe Doctrine Never Mentioned

Read President Kennedy's five points on which the United States would go to war over Cuba and note that violating the Monroe Doctrine isn't among them.

We will fight if Guantanamo Bay is attacked, if passage to the Panama Canal is interfered with, if there is interference with Cape Canaveral, if the lives of U.S. citizens are endangered, or if the safety of any nation in this hemisphere is interfered with.

But we will not fight if a foreign nation "extends their system to any portion of this hemisphere." We will not consider this "dangerous to our peace and safety."

GOODBYE Monroe Doctrine It isn't even a talking point any more. The United States tied its hands when it pledged it would not take unilateral action against other American states. That was the price it paid for the Organization of American States and the modicum of confidence it commands in the American continents.

The Monroe Doctrine, backed in the 19th century by the British Navy and in this century by the U.S. Marines, was as close as this country ever came to a preventive war. The idea was to serve notice that "any attempt" to set up Old World ideologies in the New World would be resisted and to nip all attempts in the bud.

Cuba today is far beyond the stage of being only a tentative outpost of the Communist Conspiracy. Russian Communists are getting attention at the moment, but Chinese Communists, Czech Communists and assorted Communists from other countries are in Cuba, too.

WHETHER THEY wind up fighting each other, fighting Cubans, or fighting the United States, they have established their "system" in the New World.

They have done this without risk. They have known all along that the United States would not rout them out. They showed their hand early in the Castro era, after what many observers still believe was a bona fide revolution to overthrow the Batista regime.

They never have tried to hide. They must have known when the Russian "technicians" began to reach Cuba by the shipload that their system was as safe as if it had been guaranteed.

They must have known, in other words, what the rest of us are just now finding out — that of all the things the United States might fight about an insolent violation of the Monroe Doctrine isn't even mentioned.

Shortest Way to Success

In the presidential campaign of 1960 and events leading up to the choice of the 1960 candidates and continuously since then, poll-taking reached new levels of respectability.

The impression has been made that it is on the verge of becoming a standard political science; that a poll carefully taken by experienced pollsters can foretell what voters will do with scientific accuracy.

Whether this ever will be so or is only a wishful thought by might-be candidates who would enter political races if they weren't afraid of losing is not likely to be decided soon.

What is being decided prematurely that political poll-taking is something new and therefore must be something better than anything known before.

FORETELLING the outcome of political contests isn't new.

Poll-taking didn't use to be scientific. It wasn't called poll-taking. It was known as judgment.

In its most reliable form, it was the judgment of people who had worked close to politics and knew how it worked. Some of these were "bosses." Others were nothing more official than citizens with political savvy—the kind who are always in the background when candidates have well-organized staffs.

They know what people were getting ready to do at the polls. They drew on their experience to tell candidates where to spend their efforts and their funds to the greatest advantage. They are more soothsayers than scientists, but they know their business.

They did for the two-party system what the present pollsters can do at their best. They kept it from thrashing itself into a state of exhaustion by wasting its energy. They added judgment to the ingredients of a free political systems. They were the "old pros" of politics.

ONE THING that happened to them was the tendency of candidates to split away from the party core and run as "independents." This wasn't the old pros' dish of political tea, though some made the switch successfully as mavericks, themselves, became a fixtures of the two-party system.

And now the poll-takers are taking their place in the system. They claim to be objective. Their status of being "for hire" makes them the new "old pro."

One thing has been accomplished. Poll-taking, with its claims of being objective and scientific, has added respectability to the very necessary job of running political campaigns.

The British, whose methods so often foreshadow our own by a generation and a half, learned long ago that politics is no place for bungling amateurs. British candidates turn over campaign management to professionals who make a lifetime career of managing political affairs for people who want to be in government and need professional guidance to get there without going broke in the attempt.

Look Here, Wallace Phillips

A fellow employe in the graphic arts, Wallace Phillips of the Finday (O.) Republican-Courier, has put us other husbands at such a disadvantage we are voicing a mass indictment against his behavior as a husband.

Wallace is the one who fooled his wife into thinking she was being taken to Cleveland to celebrate their 20th wedding anniversary, then took her to New York, then to Paris, which was where they were headed all the time, except he hadn't told her.

Even in this age of practically instantaneous jet flying, the trip was a masterpiece of planning — one of those gestures that husbands who are above average are always pulling at the expense of the rest of us, who are the kind that forget wedding anniversaries or underestimate their importance by bringing home gum drops.

This Phillips fellow will keep us on the defensive until every woman who envies Mrs. Phillips for marrying such a doll forgets what he did, which won't be until late in the 21st century. As anniversaries fall due we'll be expected to think of something equally sensational to prove to our little women that we too can be model husbands. . . . oh, what the . . . ?

Wallace Phillips is a troublemaker. Fellows like him make things rotten for us rotters whose wives will wonder why they couldn't have hooked up with mates who would whisk them to Paris for a wedding anniversary surprise. When he goes back to work may he get into type lice up to his eyebrows, drop a pig on his toe and pi a galley of baseball box scores 15 minutes before press time.

Me and Metzger

By Truman Twill

Every fall when poplar leaves flutter to earth and the turf has the acrid, dank smell of chilly nights and the beginning of winter dormancy, I cherish my memories of football.

They have to do solely with emotions. The kind of football we played was as de-emphasized as a game could be without collapsing entirely. When I think of it I don't even remember the games, except for an occasional high point like the first one I played.

There was this big kid playing fullback, see, and unexpectedly there he was, and there I was and crunch. That was the beginning of my dental history. Look, ma, ro teeth.

But what I remember most fondly are the pleasant things about football — the trips out of town, the jokes, the banter on the field, ludicrous things that happened, smells and sounds and the good feeling of honest leather pads soaking up the impact of a pair of pumping legs.

I remember the smell of turf on October afternoons when my nose was being shoved deep into it; there were no face guards then. I remember the feel of autumn rain dripping off a lather headgear down the open neck of a football jersey.

I remember the feeling of long hot showers after miserable afternoons when the field was covered with snow and underlaid with half-frozen mud. I remember the taste of poached eggs, toast and tea for Saturday lunch and my personal conviction that ham hock and beans, or roast beef, fried potatoes and pan gravy would be more adequate for the chore that lay ahead.

Then there was the back-and-forth live talk. I don't remember what was said, except that all of it was kiddish and some of it seemed funny. Like the day Spence and I discovered to our pleasure that the man we were supposed to block out was silly enough to let us do it our own way — and we spent a lovely afternoon dumping him on his posterior 10 yards behind the hole left by his departing body. This was done to a chant of "On to Chattanooga!" because THE girl at the moment was from Chattanooga.

And long walks back to the gym through fallen leaves on autumn afternoons, the first run-through of plays when the team took the field, experiments with chewing tobacco to ward off thirstiness, the reek of rubbing liniment and the sense of accomplishment when blocking an opponent left-handed instead of right-handed — the hard way.

Oh yes and recovering fumbles in scrimmages and getting down under high punts fast enough to arrive simultaneously with the ball and pow, crunch, skitter and splat. These are the things I remember — me a fellow too small to be a waterboy now but privileged to play football in an era when being willing was half the battle — in an era when Notre Dame had an all-American guard named Bert Metzger, who weighed 150 pounds net, soaking wet.

Me and Metzger. It was; wonderful.

Persecution of Steel Firms May Damage Industry

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Persecution of the steel industry by "liberal" or "radical" Democrats in Congress has reached the point where even the labor unions are becoming apprehensive that the end result may be more plants closed down and more jobs lost. If present proposals are carried out, it could mean a form of government control of the automobile industry, of aluminum, coal, copper, iron ore and other basic materials, and of related manufacturing enterprises.

Some of the radicals have gone so far as to concede that the purpose of their current demand for cost figures from the steel companies to be submitted to a Senate committee is to determine whether a public utility system of regulating prices, and perhaps also fixing wages, may be desirable as a "public policy" for Congress to enact.

A memorandum authorized for distribution by Sen. Kefauver, D-Tenn., to the entire membership of the Senate Judiciary Committee says flatly that, if a company seeks efficiency through the size of its operations, it may have to pay the penalty for it in a system of public utility regulation.

On THIS POINT, the memorandum reads as follows:

"If efficiency is assumed to be closely and directly related to size, the appropriate public policies would include such measures as requiring notification and defense before a public body of price increases, imposing some form of public utility rate control. . . .

"But if size is assumed not to be related to efficiency, dissolution and companion measures designed to promote competition become a logical course of public policy. Only by obtaining cost data can an intelligent judgment be made on the merits of this difficult issues."

The Senate subcommittee memorandum, in effect, declares war on the steel industry and threatens it either with laws that would establish a public utility system of government regulation or a split-up of existing companies into smaller units, irrespective of whether they will be efficient or make a profit adequate to insure further funds for investment in plant and equipment.

All this is being done in the face of statements from steel industry executives that net profits in their rate of return on invested capital have declined in the last 10 years by almost 50 per cent.

Thomas F. Patton, president of the Republic Steel Corp., said to the committee:

"A product-by-product breakdown of the American steel industry's costs, whether published by groups of three companies or even 12 companies, would be invaluable to foreign competitors engaged in penetrating our markets."

MR. PATTON testified also that disclosure of cost data would have a serious domestic impact in that producers of competitive products "would have for the first time steel-cost information which could prove of great benefit to them and great damage to us in the steel industry."

Describing current conditions in the steel industry, Mr. Patton added:

"Wheeling Steel Corp., has reduced its dividend. Lukens Corp., has reduced its dividend, Pittsburgh Coke and Chemical Co., has reduced its dividend, and if you look at the profits of the steel companies for the last quarter, you will see that a number of them did not earn enough to cover their dividend, and I am sorry to have to say that when you look at the earnings of the current third quarter when they are published they are going to look even worse."

Mr. Patton predicted that, if foreign competitors could get the cost figures of American steel companies, they "would be better able to take business away from us — we would have our steel works working less, and more people out of work, and the towns in which our plants are located would be suffering even worse than they are today."

Senators Scott of Pennsylvania and Keating of New York, Republicans, asked whether plants in their respective states would be affected and received the reply that the impact would be serious everywhere if foreign competitors obtained access to the cost data of American companies.

Whether President Kennedy approves of the direction which the Kefauver subcommittee now has taken is not yet known.

LAST APRIL he supported the efforts of the Tennessee senator to undertake an inquiry into the affairs of the steel companies.

There were reports around the capitol then that Mr. Kennedy told Sen. Kefauver bluntly "to go after" the steel companies. But the situation since last spring has changed for the worse. Unemployment in the steel industry has increased, and investors are suffering a loss of dividends as profits have been steadily reduced.

It looks now as if the Democratic party candidates for Congress generally may be adversely affected if the President continues to stand behind the Kefauver committee's crusade. There have been rumors that the White House and the steel union leaders are taking another look at the whole situation. For it could become a potent issue in the current congressional campaign.

History Today

By The Associated Press
Today is Monday, Sept. 17, the 260th day of 1962. There are 105 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this day in 1949, the largest passenger steamer on the Great Lakes—the Noronic—was destroyed by fire at a Toronto pier. The disaster took more than 130 lives and injured 170.

In 1787, the Constitution of the United States was adopted.

In 1948, the United Nations mediator for Palestine, Count Folke Bernadotte, was assassinated in Jerusalem.

Former tennis champion Maureen Connolly is 28. Poet William Carlos Williams is 79.

Thought for today: Not a place upon earth might be so happy as America. Her situation is remote from all the wrangling world, and she has and nothing to do but to trade with them—Thomas Paine.

Labor Split on Massachusetts Race

By VICTOR RIESEL

Soon we will know whether the Teamsters Union can deliver votes. Strangely enough we will know after the full vote is in on the Ted and Ed primary race. Bay State teamsters are backing McCormack against Kennedy and they are apt to show a shiny political machine.

Victor Riesel

They're building one quietly and like pros.

In Massachusetts — site of the biggest political story of the month — the teamsters are working on what they hope will be the smoothest running bring-in-the-vote-mechanism in at least 10,000 precincts stretching from coast to coast. No gimmick is overlooked. Precinct workers are asked to give house parties. Hostesses are offered coaters. Activists and members are offered gold-plated costume jewelry — tie pins for the men, pins for the women — fashioned in the shape of a "modern, over-the-road truck."

THE TEAMSTERS' political organization, "DRIVE," provides a "flip chart" with accompanying photograph record. To promote social - political gatherings there is an 8-page folder. This has a party packet with invitations, membership card pledges, and a no - postage - required "party report" card to be filled out by the hostess. To top it off are door prizes provided by the national organization.

Ed McCormack has accepted the Massachusetts teamsters' support, averring that the teamsters there have a "clean shirt." They haven't been involved in the Hoffa hi-jinks and along with other unions they give McCormack what looks like formidable labor backing.

We'll soon see how formidable it really is. Ted Kennedy has gotten considerable labor support. His labor chief of staff, Earl Riley, called the other day. Riley's official title is Coordinator for Labor Group For Ted Kennedy. In non-political moments Riley is New England District president of the International Union of Electrical Workers.

RILEY SAID there has been no contact with President Kennedy on labor support.

"We've done well," said Riley. "Ted Kennedy's organization tops the President's pre-election organization. This is Ted Kennedy's own campaign."

"We have got the strongest unions in the state with us and we proved it at a closed meeting in the Parker House on the night of Aug. 28."

Riley made available a letter he dispatched to labor chiefs on the official "Edward M. Kennedy for U. S. Senator" letterhead:

"The purpose," said the letter in part, "of the meeting has been designed specifically to meet 'Ted' Kennedy informally, and to allow 'Ted' the privilege of addressing labor leaders in a group meeting.

"In arranging this meeting, it is clearly understood that 'Ted' is not at this time seeking endorsements of any labor group, as this would be inconsistent with the practice and policy of the Trade Union political program in a primary election. . . ."

THE CALL attracted about 100 union leaders representing the 20 largest unions in the state. They had Kennedy on his feet for over an hour and a half. Obviously Ted had used the same effective briefing technique which gave his brother fingertip information and statistics for this sort of rapid fire give-and-take.

Names of the union chiefs have not been made public, said Riley, because it would not be consistent with the invitations. But they are working hard "anonymously."

"Ted has not needed any assistance from the White House," said the candidate's labor spokesman. "He is working 16 hours a day, seven days a week, and stands outside plant gates introducing himself.

He is knowledgeable. At the labor meeting for example, we peppered him with questions on the foreign trade and tariff problems, their effect on industry. He spoke of the leather industry, the shoe industry, the fish industry, the plastic industry, and the electronic component industry with facility.

He showed the same ease as his brother with figures on unemployment, retraining and on missile and space programs."

JUDGING from what Riley said, it appears that in addition to the International Union of Electrical Workers, there were leaders of the textile and soft goods industry fields.

The labor bloc seems to be split into the construction groups and teamsters for McCormack and the other group for Kennedy, though there is no sharp line-up.

It will be fascinating to see who delivers what to whom in this election within an election.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: I'm worried about my wife. She is 45 years old. About six months ago she began to lose interest in things which were once very important to her. She dropped out of the church auxiliary and resigned from her garden club. She began to find fault with her closest friends and refused to see them.

Strangers In Town

Dear Ann: My sister and I moved to this city last year. We don't know many people here. Sis is going to be married around Christmas. She has her heart set on wearing a white satin gown and a veil. Her fiancé is in the Army and will be out in November.

The problem is getting a best man to stand up for Jake. He has no close friends and has asked my sister to make the selection. She doesn't know anybody either so she has asked me to help her out. The only person I can think of is our cousin who lives in town here, but he is going to play the wedding march on the piano.

There is this certain fellow I see on the bus every morning. He is tall and handsome and would be ideal. I don't know his name but we always say "good morning" to each other.

I realize this would be unusual, but it might be a perfect way to get acquainted. Shall I ask him to stand up for Jake? — MAID OF HONOR.

Dear Maid: Inviting a stranger to stand up at a family wedding is no way to get acquainted. Don't ask him or he will think you're off your rocker.

Ask your cousin to stand up for Jake and hire a professional musician to play the wedding march. This would make much more sense.

Nightmarish

Dear Ann: That letter from "Ready To Scram" really jarred loose some nightmarish memories for me. Perhaps my letter will save other divorced women with children from making a horrible mistake. It's too late for me. I've already made it.

I'll wager 9 out of 10 so-called pushed-around stepdads played up to the woman's children as part of the act to get her to say yes. Even the dumbest yosh knows the way to a mother's heart is through her children.

These clever men butter up the kids and make them believe life is going to be one great big picnic together. Then, as soon as the knot is tied — WHAM—the fault-finding, criticizing, ordering around and slapping begins.

My advice to a widow or divorcee with children is this: A man who genuinely likes children doesn't overdo it. He behaves in a normal, natural way — sometimes he may even chastise the child. Beware when he's too fawning.

And for heaven's sake, listen to what people tell you — especially people who have known the character for years. A man's reputation is the key to what he REALLY is. — BURNED BUT GOOD.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Salem News, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Toothpick-Thin Plot Glares In 'Sam Benedict' Show

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer
NEW YORK (AP)—Sam Benedict will have to be fattened up considerably if NBC's new lawyer-series is to replace "Perry Mason" in the eyes and hearts of the Saturday night television audience.
Unhappily, Sam's rather pathetic skeleton was all too apparent on first sight this past weekend, in spite of frantic and obvious efforts to pad, divert and conceal.
Edmond O'Brien plays the San Francisco barrister breathlessly and turbulently, rushing around to handle crisis after crisis getting a client acquitted of murder, collecting overdue rent and, in the main thread of plot, forestalling a blackmailing lawsuit.
It was in the principal story that the toothpick-thin plot was glaringly visible. Sam's good friend Mike died suddenly, and Mike's evil brother threatened to try to break the will in an attempt to get a bigger share.
"Show of the Week" bounced back strong Sunday night with an offbeat morality play, "The Outpost." A five-man cast of competent performers—the men at an observation outpost of some nameless country at war—underscored author Roger O. Hirsch's point, that it is easier to face certain destruction than shame.
The colonel (Claude Rains) was a thief; the captain (Richard Conte) a marinet who had marched the platoon into a quagmire; the lieutenant (Keir Dullea) a coward; the sergeant (Neville Brand) a murderer, and the private (Everett Sloane) a cuckold.

None was legally convicted, but their shame was known. So they all chose to remain in their outpost, ignoring the advance of the enemy, rather than return to their old lives.
It was interesting, intelligent and stimulating a fine harbinger for the series' new NBC season.
Joey Bishop also returned to NBC on Saturday night. This season he is more poised, more famous, and a successful established night club comedian. He also has picked up a wife on the show.
Recommended tonight:
"It's a Man's World," premiere, NBC, 7:30-8:30 (EDT) new series about four boys in a household; "Saints and Sinners," premiere, NBC, 8:30-9:30 Nick Adams stars as a reporter in a new newspaper dramatic series; "Stump the Stars," CBS, 10:30-11 "Pantomime Quiz" in thin disguise with Pat Harrington Jr. as charades master.
Returning shows: "I've Got a Secret," CBS, 8-8:30 Garry Moore and his group of panelists in a new time period; "The Price is Right," NBC, 9:30-10—Bill Cullen and the game at a new time. News special "America's Cup Race," NBC, 10-11—documentary treatment of the international yacht race.

NEW COMPACT DART — Dodge's new compact car for 1963 is called Dart. More than seven inches longer than the 1962 Dodge compact, the new Dart's room interior provides exceptional passenger comfort and convenience. Nine models are offered, including the four-door "270" sedan shown above.

from there went to Goldsboro, N. C., to spend a few days with their daughter and sister, T.Sgt. and Mrs. Harley Hall, before returning to their home on Saturday.

World Financial Leaders Nations Discuss Dollar Future

WASHINGTON (AP) — Financial leaders of 80 countries gathered here today to talk about the recuperating dollar—and the new problems that will arise when the dollar is restored to full health.
The forum for the discussion was the annual meeting of the International Monetary Fund, a 17-year-old champion of stable currencies and world trade. This meeting, along with simultaneous sessions of the World Bank and affiliated organizations, will continue through Friday.
In the monetary realm, an increase in the strength of the dollar or any other currency is almost certain to mean that some other currency is weakening. With the dollar showing new strength, Western Europe is increasingly concerned about its own marks, guilders, francs and lire.
Per Jacobsson, managing director of the IMF, predicts the U.S. balance of payments deficit—the cause of dollar weakness in recent years—will be substantially eliminated by the end of 1963. The Kennedy administration is making the same forecast.
Some of the European finance ministers and central bankers attending the IM meeting aren't so certain. But they are concerned about the fact that the increasing strength of the dollar already has weakened the position of several continental currencies.
As the U.S. payments deficit has declined, from $3.9 billion in 1960 to a current annual rate of $1.5 billion, the surpluses of West Germany, the Netherlands, and Switzerland have disappeared. The Italian surplus has been reduced.
If the U.S. deficit is eliminated on schedule, it will be at the continued expense of other currencies.

Drive Begun To Cut Rail Fares — for Mice
LONDON (AP) — A campaign was started today to slash rail-road fares — for mice. Also for rabbits and guinea pigs.
Percy Ashley, 73, president of the National Mouse Club, announced the campaign.
Club members, who exhibit prize mice all over Britain, complain the high cost of transporting the mice pricing them out of a hobby.
"On short distance it costs more to send a mouse than it does a man," Ashley said.

Cheryl Dermotta Wed To David A. Pirigyi

St. Patrick's Church at Leetonia was the locale Saturday of the wedding of Miss Cheryl Lyn Dermotta, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Dermotta of Washingtonville, to David A. Pirigyi, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Pirigyi of Miami Springs, Fla.

Rev. Warren Braun officiated at the 9 a.m. double ring ceremony before an altar decorated with baskets of white chrysanthemums. Joseph Horning was organist and soloist.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of white nylon organza over taffeta with Bertha collar of re-embroidered Alencon lace edging the wide scooped neckline with floating panels of taffeta floating from a back shoulder bow on the long sleeved fitted bodice. Appliques of Alencon lace embellished the bouffant skirt which ended in a full chapel train. Her elbow length veil of silk illusion was caught to a pill box hat of peau and Alencon lace decorated with tiny pearls, and she carried white carnations centered with an orchid.

Sandra Novak, cousin of the bride, was maid of honor and bridesmaids were Myrna Bruderly, Georgene Stankovich, cousin of the bride, Leanna Dermotta, sister of the bride, and Kimberly Perigyi, sister of the bridegroom.

Their dresses of willow green silk over taffeta were fashioned with scooped neckline, three quarter length sleeves with butterfly bow at the waistline of the skirt of unpressed pleats. They wore matching picture hats.

John Ferry served Mr. Pirigyi as best man and ushers were Donald Guaid and David Dattilio, cousins of the bridegroom, George Arntz, cousin of the bride, and James Rance.

The bride's mother wore a knit suit of royal blue with white accessories and Mrs. Pirigyi a rust print dress with matching gold coat with rust accessories.

Miss Karen Vignon registered the 400 guests who greeted the couple at the reception in the church social rooms following the ceremony.

Focal point at the bride's table was a church shaped white bride cake topped with a silver cross and decorated with florets and greenery. Tapers in silver holders lighted the decor. Serving were Mrs. Edward Novak, Mrs. Sherman Arntz and Mrs. James DeJane, all aunts of the bride.

The bride is a graduate of Leetonia High School.

Mr. Pirigyi attended Leetonia High School and is with the Navy stationed at New London, Conn. For her honeymoon through the eastern states the bride wore a black and white knit suit and the orchid from her bridal bouquet.

The parents of the bridegroom were hosts at the rehearsal party Friday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Carmen Guaid.

Hints from Heloise

— By Heloise Cruse —

Dear Heloise: Many of us use the kitchen timer to keep the cookies and cakes from burning but I use mine all the time. I race "it" when I am doing a job I dislike and want to finish it quickly.

The timer reminds me of an appointment or a phone call to make without watching the clock and most of all, it helps me to take care of my young children.

When the children start scolding over the same toy, I set my timer and . . . most of the time . . . they will happily take turns. The children will also get out of the bathtub much faster when the timer rings, than when I call them. Timers are wonderful.

MARCIA HOWARD

DEAR HELOISE: For crushing vanilla wafers (I much prefer these for crusts, no sugar needed and not crumbly after baked) or graham crackers . . . I put them into a waxed bag and tape it closed. I squeeze all of the air out of the bag before taping. Place the bag on the floor and just "step on it"! The heel action of a fast flamenco is good! Make sure you are wearing flat shoes. This crushes the cookies very well and saves your arms for mixing the pie filling!

THE DANCER

DEAR HELOISE: Did you know that if you use a wide neck funnel such as is ordinarily used for canning fruit . . . it is a cinch to pour the contents of any package into a jar?

L. ALLEN

DEAR HELOISE: People who are in a hurry and pressed for time and energy and must have windows clean shouldn't overlook the possibility of dusting the inside windows with a clean cloth. (This naturally is not for greasy windows.)

"Dry dusting" of windows will leave no streaks, will remove a surprising amount of soil and cut down considerably on the frequency of washing.

P.B.

DEAR HELOISE: For that last dab of toothpaste in the (usually bent) tube: Just hold the tube under the hot water faucet and squeeze . . . every last bit of paste will come out easily! Truly works!

HELPER

DEAR HELOISE: When icing a cake (either cooked or powdered sugar icing), if you will keep the knife in hot water before spreading the icing, it will go on smooth and will not stick to the knife.

A sticky knife often causes

DiSalle Says 'Golden Age Village' Proposal Incredible

Rhodes' Plan Stirs Hubbub

By REED SMITH
COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohio's gubernatorial race is developing into a political surprise package. Not that unexpected twists disturb the aplomb of veteran campaigners like Gov. Michael V. DiSalle, incumbent Democrat, or his Republican foe, State Auditor James A. Rhodes.

But what startles some politicians is a growing suspicion that major proposals by Rhodes may be trapped with sandbags for unwary critics.

Latest surprise was a "golden age village" endorsement by Robert A. Haines, mental hygiene director who resigned after five years to head state institutions in Kansas.

Rhodes Unveils Plans
Barely a week after Haines left, Rhodes unveiled his plan to move 11,000 state hospital patients into revenue bond-financed villages.

DiSalle and company rushed to discredit the plan in the manner used against Rhodes' earlier programs for 200,000 new jobs and a youth commission to deal with delinquents.

The governor termed the golden age plan incredible. Cabinet members backed his assertions that there were nowhere near 11,000 patients who could be moved out, even counting the 2,500 over age 65 already placed in rest homes. The plan was called a grim fairy tale.

After those statements received wide publication, Rhodes said he would be willing to accept the opinion of Haines, a physician and psychiatrist, whom he termed the best qualified to say how many could leave mental hospitals if they had a place to go.

Haines Gives Opinion
Reporters called Haines in Topeka and quoted him as saying: "We had a population in the institutions of about 33,000. I believe about one-third of that number could be moved out. This includes not only the aged, if you consider 65 and above as aged, because sometimes a person is 'old' before 65.

"If he (Rhodes) is including those patients who have had maximum hospital benefits—those who need an institutional setting but not in a mental hospital—then the number would be very close to the figure he uses.

"If Ohio can move the many patients who are being cared for in mental hospitals, and not receiving intensive treatment, into another setting without any cut in the mental hygiene program, this, in my opinion, would be a good plan."

Rhodes indicated he had known of Haines' opinions for some time by asserting: "My program for golden age villages was prepared after lengthy consultations with experts in the professional fields involved. Medical and psychiatric judgments were theirs. Legal judgments were from experts in constitutional law."

But a surprise also was in store for Rhodes. About the time that he drew support from Haines, a spokesman for Ohio nursing homes blasted the plan as state invasion of private enterprise, a Republican sanctum.

Earlier DiSalle criticism of Rhodes' plans for a job-creating agency and a youth commission ran into rebuttals with unexpected but less devastating results.

Juvenile judges promptly endorsed the plan for a strong youth commission as long needed, although the administration already had created one with limited powers. DiSalle reportedly got busy contacting Democratic judges for opposition.

The new jobs plan, based on industrial loans through self-liquidating revenue bonds, ran into a blood of administration statistics gathered to show it was impractical. Rhodes answered with another barrage of figures, many of them from the same source but indicating opposite conclusions.

Which recalled a Cabinet meeting statement by Administrator Donald B. Leach of the Bureau of Unemployment Compensation that: "Figures can always be twisted to prove almost anything."

The dispute over constitutionality of Rhodes' plans requiring bond issues appears more crucial. Without a solid legal foundation for bond financing, the programs couldn't get off the ground.

Unlike Rhodes, DiSalle is an attorney. The governor insists such plans would not hold up in court. But Rhodes says he has been through that mill. While mayor of Columbus, he won a court fight for bond financing of a city parking garage that retired its revenue bonds in about half the time expected.

Rhodes has other programs ready for his campaign but is behind schedule in announcing them. The delay is attributed to publicity generated by opposition to the plans already advanced. The state auditor expected difficulty in making them well known. He professes pleasure over a talk about them. Obviously there will be more before election time rolls around.

Beloit
Enrollment in Beloit School has been announced as 327 pupils. Teachers are Mrs. Margaret Bie-ry and Miss Jean Darlington, first grade; Mrs. Garnet Maris and Mrs. Florence Barnhouse, second; Mrs. Clair Blake and Mrs. Doris Bartels, third; Mrs. Lucille Clark and Mrs. Verla Turner, fourth; Mrs. Ellen Ware and Mrs. Helen Krichbaum, fifth; and Joseph Knouse, sixth.

Mrs. Marianne Greiner is vocal and instrumental music teacher and Eugene Smythe is principal. The village council has approved the purchase of a jeep by the volunteer fire department. The unit will carry hose, pump and additional water. The old tanker will be advertised for sale.

The Cub Scout committee met with Mrs. Henry McNatt with eight present. Plans were made for a Cub Scout rocket derby to be held Sept. 25 at Beloit School. Goals for the year have been accomplished on schedule. The pack will hold a round-up for new boys during September along with new committeemen and den mothers.

Cub Scouts will plant tulip bulbs at the community park as a land beautification project.

Troop 82 Boy Scout committee held a board of review at the home of Glenn Turner. Twelve scouts were advanced to a higher rank. Awards will be presented at a Court of Honor later this month when 25 merit badges will also be awarded.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry McNatt visited Mr. and Mrs. Cyril Taylor at Guilford Lake recently. Eugene Yeagley is improving at Alliance City Hospital.

But Attack Considered Unlikely

Cuban Build-Up Near Guantanamo Reported

GANTANAMO NAVAL BASE, Cuba (AP)—Fidel Castro has deployed about 5,000 to 6,000 troops near this U. S. base in eastern Cuba, according to the intelligence reaching American Navy and Marine commanders.

But U.S. military authorities believe these regulars, bolstered by thousands of militiamen, are there to keep the Cuban people in check rather than to mount an attack on this vital American fleet base.

Guantanamo's command doubts the likelihood of any serious Cuban threat to the 45-square-mile base, but the entire military force of about 3,000 men has been trained to fight if trouble comes.

So far little of the new military gear the Soviet Union has supplied to Castro's regime has showed up near this U.S. enclave. Rear Adm. Edward J. O'Donnell, base commander, said his patrols have not sighted any missile-armed torpedo boats which President Kennedy said have been sent to Cuba.

O'Donnell reported Soviet-made trucks are operating outside Guantanamo's fence, but they have been in the area for some time.

Persons suspected of being Communist bloc nationals, including some Asians, have been spotted near the base.

Castro has perhaps 100 Soviet-made Mig fighters, but there have been no intrusions of Guantanamo's air space since the spring of 1961.

Most of Castro's forces in this area are stationed some miles from Guantanamo's 26-mile perimeter, but the Cubans maintain a line of one and two-man outposts within 100 yards of the base fence.

U.S. officers generally rate the Cuban soldiers facing Guantanamo as of good quality and well disciplined.

This has prompted speculation that name calling, rock throwing and other harassment of U.S. sentinels may be an officially inspired effort to provoke U.S. Marines into counter action.

U.S. guards have been ordered to refrain from shouting back or making any gestures that Cuban cameras could photograph to back up Castro's claims that U.S. military forces are engaged in provocative acts.

Castro has one effective means of turning the screw on Guantanamo if he wishes. The big base's water supply comes from inside Cuban territory, but so far he has made no attempt to cut it off.

Wife of FBI Counterspy Kept Secret Three Years

NEW YORK (AP)—"You don't know how hard it is for a woman to keep a secret for three years," says a young wife who knew her husband was feeding government information to the Russians while working as an FBI counterspy.

"I'm proud of the job he did," Lois Flink told newsmen Sunday. Then, with a sigh of relief, "and I'm very glad it's over."

Mrs. Flink, 24, said that when her husband-to-be, Richard A. Flink, 27, disclosed his undercover role shortly before their marriage in June 1960, she was "very nervous at first."

But, she said, "he explained the whole thing to me and I agreed to go along with it."

Flink, a Republican candidate for New York State assemblyman, said he was partly motivated in his undercover work by his hatred of Soviet anti-Semitism.

The Justice Department disclosed Flink's undercover adventure Saturday night. Flink, a Queens, N.Y., lawyer-politician, posed as a Communist spy for a $3,000 payoff while keeping the FBI abreast of information he gave to two Soviet employees of the United Nations, the department said.

Flink's Democratic opponent in the Nov. 6 elections said he was going to communicate with Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy about the Justice Department report "to see if there is any more to it."

Flink, who never had held elective office, is running against Queens lawyer J. Lewis Fox, who is seeking re-election to the state assembly where he has served 14 years.

Fox, 52, said he was puzzled by some things in the department's report and was trying to figure out why Kennedy, a Democrat, like himself, released it just at this time—two months before the election.

Fox told newsmen he could not understand what type information Flink could supply the Russians on the Republican party that the Russians couldn't have gotten from public records of the party.

"There's something more to it than appears on the surface," Fox said. "I don't know what it is."

Zepernick Takes Defense Training

Harmon E. Zepernick of 658 E. 7th St., who is liaison and instruction officer for Salem Civil Defense, has just completed a special civil defense course at the Department of Defense, Office of Civil Defense, Staff College in Battle Creek, Mich.

This five-day course on Civil Defense Management is one of several special courses offered by the ODC Staff College and Training Centers.

The Civil Defense Management course provides training in planning, organizing and managing a total civil defense program. Special emphasis is placed on fallout shelter planning and management. Persons who receive this training are usually State and local civil defense directors or their deputies and key staff members. Others who attend have direct supervision of a segment of civil defense in government, industry, institutions and the military services.

The Doctor Says

By Dr. H. T. HYMAN

Care of the Asthmatic Child

You'd hate to believe that harm may result from excessive parental devotion. Yet there's evidence that improvement in a distressing condition, such as bronchial asthma, may be produced with some consistency when certain child asthmatics are separated from their doting parents.

Of the two million child asthmatics in the United States, some 300,000 are classified as "intractable," meaning that they no longer respond to injections of adrenalin and similar drugs.

In an intensive study of 300 of these "intractable child asthmatics," carried out in the Children's Asthma Research Institute and Hospital at Denver, Colo., it was found that almost half of those who ranged in age from 7 to 16 years became free from attacks and remained symptom-free when removed from their homes and admitted to the institute.

When a social study of the parents was made, attitudes of "psychologic unhealthiness" were found. And the "unhealthiness" was never a matter of parental neglect or lack of concern, but rather the result of excessive love and devotion on the part of the mother, most particularly, who spent days and nights in anguish over her child's plight.

Q—My son has rheumatoid arthritis. At the hospital, he was taught to do corrective exercises to prevent deformities of his joints and to improve his posture. He does these faithfully twice daily while he listens to a 15-minute news program on his radio. But a visitor to our home, the other night, told us that she had the same condition and was helped most by electric treatments and light rays. Can you enlighten us about these?

A—A careful survey by British physicians has just confirmed the views held by most American authorities: Postural exercise, carried out religiously by the patient, constitutes the best treatment for arthritis. These conclusions were reached after a group of 62 patients was given monthly trials with short-wave diathermy, infra-red radiation, electrical stimulation and paraffin wax baths.

The results showed that simple exercises, splinting when necessary and doses of pain-killers (analgesics) as indicated, gave just as much relief as any of the other treatments. And, I might add, at considerably less expense!

Findlay Couple Home After Paris Anniversary Dinner

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)—The people of Paris made the most impression on Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Phillips of Findlay, who went to the French capital for a 20th wedding anniversary dinner arranged by Phillips as a surprise for his wife.

The couple arrived at Cleveland Hopkins Airport late Sunday looking a bit tired but flushed with the excitement of travel and bewildered by the publicity they had received.

"It's nice to be back," said Mrs. Phillips, "because I was worried about the children. But the time was kind of short."

The children, Michael, 16, and Monda, 12, stayed with friends while their parents were away.

Phillips and his wife traveled light. Their baggage consisted of one suitcase, which he sneaked into the car before they left Findlay Sept. 12, ostensibly for an anniversary dinner in Cleveland.

When they arrived in Cleveland Phillips told his wife they were going to fly to New York for the dinner. At New York they boarded an Icelandic plane, with Phillips explaining they were going to Iceland for the celebration. In Iceland he told his wife they were going to Luxembourg and when the plane landed there last Thursday, he told her of the surprise he had planned for her in Paris.

"I enjoyed it very much," Mrs. Phillips said. "It was a wonderful surprise."

Conley Leads Red Sox To 4-3 Victory Over Yankees

Twins Post Win Over Indians

Tigers Nip Angels; Athletics Also Win

By BOB GREEN Associated Press Sports Writer Gene Conley is a big, baby-faced guy who is the only major two-sport professional now performing. He is the property of the New York Knickerbockers of the National Basketball Association. This is a recent change. And he is no longer "owned" by the New York Yankees, also a recent change. The Yanks had beaten the 6-foot-8 Boston right-hander seven times in as many tries over the last two seasons when they took the field in Boston Sunday. Conley promptly pitched and batted the Red Sox to a 4-3 triumph over the defending world champions, lopping a full game off the Yanks still comfortable American League lead.

Minnesota closed to within three games on the strength of a 4-3 decision over Cleveland, with ace right-hander Camilo Pascual the key figure. Pascual picked up his 19th triumph and drove in the winning run with his third hit of the game. New York and Minnesota each have 10 games left to play.

The third-place Los Angeles Angels were all but eliminated from the race by Detroit. The Tigers came up with a 4-2 verdict, dropping the Angels 3 1/2 games back of Minnesota, 6 1/2 behind the Yankees.

Kansas City bombed Baltimore 12-5 and Chicago beat Washington 7-4 in the others. Conley, who combines his baseball career with a winter job in professional basketball, was acquired by the New York NBA team in a trade last week.

A Conley single, leading off the eighth, led to the decisive run. He moved up on a sacrifice and scored on Lu Clinton's single.

Whitey Ford (16-8) was charged with the loss. Pascual struck out 12, lifting his league-leading total to 191, while keeping the Twins in the race with their fourth straight victory. He drove in the run that broke a 3-3 tie with a single in the eighth. Harmon Killebrew's 40th home run with the bases empty in the seventh, pulled the Twins into the tie.

Los Angeles' loss to Detroit was their fifth straight. Pitcher Phil Regan's decisive two-run double in a three-run fifth inning gave the Tigers a 4-0 lead and pinned the loss on Ken McBride (11-5). Kansas City jammed in six runs in the fifth inning and went on to an easy triumph over Baltimore, despite a home run and three other hits by the Orioles' Brooks Robinson.

Chicago rallied for four runs in the sixth in beating Washington. Ray Herbert allowed 11 hits and 4 walks, but picked up his 17th victory against 9 losses.

UNITED BOOSTERS TO MEET

The new football scoreboard for United Local High School will be installed for all Boosters Club members to inspect when the club meets Tuesday at 8:30 p.m. at the school, Kenny Wickersham, president, announced today.

MAJOR LEAGUE standings

Table with 4 columns: Team, W, L, Pct. G.B. Includes American League and National League standings.

TENNIS TOURNEY WINNERS—John Bowin and Frank Wilson of Canton (kneeling l. to r.) bowed to Amedea DiNardo of Sharon and Leon Yarnell of New Philadelphia 6-4, 7-5 in the doubles division of the Salem Invitational Tennis Tournament finals held Sunday at the Salem Golf Club.

In the back row are Ed Dupuy of Poland, who defeated John Garver of Boardman 4-6, 6-2, 6-2 to cop the singles title and Maurice Young, tourney director.

Crestview Loses 28-0 to United Local United Local's Golden Eagles handed Coach Dave Habeger's Crestview Rebels their second consecutive shutout of the season Saturday by posting a 28-0 victory.

The host club held a 6-0 half-time advantage. Gary Blythe spurred over from the seven and then passed to Dick Farmer for another tally as the Eagles iced the game in the third canto. Aaron Arter connected to Marty Brice in the fourth period to cap the scoring.

United will be on the road at Jackson-Milton Saturday for their first Turnpike Conference tilt while Crestview will be at Lowellville.

Western Reserve Rips Atwater 26-0

Western Reserve evened its season record at 1-1 by shutting out Atwater 26-0 in action Saturday at Sebring. Western Reserve was humbled 52-6 in its opener last week against Lowellville.

John DeAngel led the winners' attack as he scored twice on runs of six and seven yards.

Western Reserve will play host to McDonald Saturday in an Inter County fray.

Beaver Local Scores Upset Over Potters

"The greatest victory for the school and myself since I have been in coaching."

That is how Coach Jack O'Rourke described his Beaver Local Beavers' 16-12 upset of the East Liverpool Potters Saturday game was witnessed by over night at Patterson field. The 6,000 fans.

The Beavers took the ball on the opening kickoff and marched steadily down field with George Gaydos romping over for the score with just 55 seconds remaining in the first period. Fullback Floyd Saltsman banged through the left side for the extra-points.

The Potters returned the kickoff to their own 41 but on the first play from scrimmage Gaydos recovered an East Liverpool fumble and the Beavers were on the march again.

Larry McLaughlin scored the winners' second tally with 7:54 remaining in the half as he scampered around the right side for nine-yards. Gaydos plunged for the extra points.

East Liverpool got into the scoring column later in the period when quarterback Chuck Baker raced 44 yards to the Beaver Local one and on the next play Tom Kraft bulled across for the score. Earl Olmstead's plunge for the two-point was short.

The Potters' last tally came in the third canto on a six-yard run by Bob Mercer but a pass play for the conversion failed and the Beavers owned a 16-12 victory.

The win was the second of the season for Beaver while the Potters suffered their second setback. They lost to powerful Niles 32-0 last week.

Hot Stove Leagues End Season Sunday

Four Salem Hot Stove League games were played Sunday to bring the 1962 season to an end. In action Sunday Hobbycraft dumped Team 1, 27-5, Independent Hose trounced Team 2, 26-0 and Howard Studio blanked Team 3, 20-7. In a special game the E, F, and G league managers were defeated by the managers of Class H and Morning League managers 8-7.

The Redskins' Bobby Mitchell, obtained from Cleveland during the off-season, and quarterback Norm Sneed engaged in a dog-eat-dog battle with Dallas quarterbacks Don Meredith and Ed Die LeBaron and end Fred Clark. Mitchell scored 3 times, one on a 92-yard kickoff return and the others on scoring passes of 81 and 6 yards from Sneed. Meredith hit Clarke with 58- and 55-yard TD tosses and LeBaron threw 11 to him for another. Dallas' Sam Baker missed a 35-yard field goal in the final seconds as the Cowboys tried to pull it out.

Jim Ninowski, obtained from Detroit for quarterback Milt Plum hit Rich Kreitling with a 17-yard TD pass in the third period to break a 7-7 tie and Lou Groza's 29-yard field goal added the insurance.

Tom Wilson, one of the 15 new faces on the Browns, combined with last year's rushing leader Jimmy Brown for 210 yards, and the alert Brown defensed turned three interceptions into scoring strikes and recovered a Giant fumble in their own end zone to avert another score.

Crow, out most of the 1961 season with a broken ankle and sidelined nearly a month during the training season with a ankle sprain, scored three touchdowns for the Cardinals, one on a 2-yard pass from Sam Etcheverry, who also hit Sonny Randle on a 68-yard scoring aerial. Crow's 26-yard TD run in the third period put the Cardinals ahead to stay.

Plum held up his end of the Ninowski deal, passing for three Detroit scores, two to Gail Gordon in a 21-point third period. Pat Studstill set up two of them with explosive kick returns, and also scored later on a 9-yard pass from Plum.

Unitas, hearing unfamiliar jeers by the Baltimore fans in the second half, threw two touchdown passes in the final five minutes to bail out the Colts. He hit Ray Berry for 21 yards then won it with a 14-yarder to Jimmy Orr, after getting the Colts away to a 14-0 lead on a pair of TD passes to Dee Mackey.

Roosevelt Taylor's 42-yard run with an intercepted pass shook the Bears out of their slump, and Willie Gallimore added the clincher with scoring runs of 37 and 77 yards in the second half.

Tourney Field Narrowed to 9

Softball Action Continues Tonight

Akron Leeper Tire bounced Cleveland Margie's Cafe out of Salem Invitational Softball Tournament play 8-1 Sunday and then was eliminated by Beaver Falls Valley Sportsman Supply 6-1 in the second contest of the day.

In the only other game slated Salem Old Dutch Beer downed Steubenville Naples Lounge 3-2.

OOP ECKMAN GOT the victory in the first game as he scattered five safeties and got nine - hit support from his teammates.

The winners scored twice in the second, added two more in the third, a lone run in the fifth and capped their scoring with a three-run spurt in the seventh. Margie's lone tally was in the third.

Steve Slekly led the winners at the plate, bating a single in the fifth and swatting a four-bagger in the big seventh frame. Joe Rist smacked a triple and a homer for the losers.

THE LEEPER TIRE crew's bats were chilled in the second fry as John Taylor handcuffed them, allowing only two singles.

Akron jumped to a 1-0 lead in the top of the first but the Sportsman came right back with two tallies in their half of the inning and then exploded for three in the fifth and one more in the sixth.

Harry Norland suffered the loss, giving up seven hits while walking six and fanning five while Taylor also struck out five while allowing only one free base.

SUNDAY'S ACTION narrowed the tourney field to nine teams with just three undefeated squads — Akron Angies, Cleveland Republic Steel and Youngstown Local 1331 — remaining. Republic Steel and Local 1331 battle Wednesday night with the winner battling Angie's Saturday.

Other teams remaining in the double - elimination tourney are Youngstown Palkovic Insurance, Beaver Falls Sportsmen Club, Cuyahoga Falls McGowen - Reid, Niles Alberini's, Salem Old Dutch, Lorain Old Dutch.

Tonight's schedule is as follows: 7:30 p.m., Palkovic Insurance vs Beaver Falls Sportsmen Supply 9 p.m., Cuyahoga Falls McGowen-Reid vs Alberini's Restaurant

Races Held By Motorcycle Club

Norbat Rall of Mansfield copped first place in the two - hundred feature when the Western Reserve Motorcycle Club held scrambles races Sunday at the club track.

Paul DemOssi of Akron finished second in the feature with Donald White of Youngstown third.

Other results are as follows: 250-CC Class: 1st, Bob Hunter, Brunswick; 2nd, Charles South, Copley; 3rd, Carl Badowski, Cleveland. 500 C Class: 1st, Bud Steede, Newcomerstown; 2nd, Martin Torio, Edenburg, Pa.; 3rd, Bob Schoeller, Cleveland.

Consolation (heavyweight): Darwin Myers, Cleveland. Lightweight: 1st, James Beck, Olmstead Falls 2nd, Ray Aston, Salem; 3rd, Robert Sil, Vienna.

Southeast Wins Over Jackson-Milton 6-0

A first - period tally was all Southeast High School needed to dump Jackson-Milton 6-0 at Fitch Saturday. Jackson - Milton tied East Canton 20-20 in its first season game last week.

The winners score came on a four-yard sprint by halfback Larry Kruse. It was Southeast's first contest of the year.

Jackson-Milton will be entertained by Ray Russell's United High squad Saturday in a Turnpike Conference contest.

Pirates Win 6-4 In 10 Innings

Bucs Hand Giants 5th Straight Loss

By JACK HAND Associated Press Sports Writer Willie Mays did his best and the Chicago Cubs slowed down Los Angeles' pennant express but still the San Francisco Giants couldn't win for losing.

With two weeks to go, the Giants' situation is indeed desperate. They trail the Dodgers by four games with 12 to play after losing their fifth straight Sunday, 6-4 to Pittsburgh in 10 innings.

Smoky Burgess' two-run homer in the 10th did the Giants in after Mays, returning to the lineup for the first time since he collapsed on the bench Wednesday, had tied the score with a three-run homer in the eighth. It was Willie's 44th of the year.

The Dodgers' seven-game winning streak was broken by the Cubs, whose Bob Buhl allowed only four hits in a 5-0 victory.

Nelson Mathews, a 21-year-old rookie who came up from the Wenatchee, Wash., farm last week, hit a grand slam homer, his first major league home run, off Stan Williams in the first inning.

The New York Mets knocked out Joey Jay, Cincinnati's 21-game winner, and beat the Reds 8-2 with Marv Throneberry showing the way. The Reds remained six games behind the Dodgers with only 10 to go.

Art Mahaffey won his 19th game as the Phillies continued to plague the St. Louis Cardinals, beating Bob Gibson 3-1. The Cards defeat, combined with Milwaukee's 5-4 victory over Houston, left the two clubs tied for fifth place.

Los Angeles and San Francisco each have six at home and six away. St. Louis could be the key, if any is needed at this stage. The Dodgers play the Cardinals six times and the Giants play the Cards five times.

The Cubs broke out of a 10-game losing slump while delaying the Dodgers' pennant rush. They also stopped Maury Wills who didn't steal a base and was thrown out for the 12th time in 104 attempts. He has stolen 92 bases, four short of Ty Cobb's record of 96 in 1915.

Throneberry drove in three runs and hit his 16th homer for the Mets as Roger Craig, a 23-game loser, won his ninth, and Jay, a 21-game winner, lost his 13th.

Johnny Callison's 22nd home run with a man on in the eighth was the difference in Mahaffey's victory over the Cards' Bob Gibson. It was the Phils' 13th win in their last 16 games in a drive on fifth place.

Gus Bell's home run on Don McMahon's first pitch in the ninth gave Milwaukee its decision over Houston for a three-game sweep. Del Crandall also homered for the Braves and as did Bob Lillis for the Colts. Lew Burdette won on relief over McMahon.

Greenford Trowned By Mineral Ridge

Coach Al Carrino's Greenford Bobcats were trounced 42-6 Saturday by visiting Mineral Ridge in the first Inter-County League contest of the season for both squads.

Greenford's Jim Davis gave the Bobcats a 6-0 advantage as he took the opening kickoff and twisted his way 90-yards for a score, but the hosts were never in the ball game after that as the winners crossed the goal for six TD's.

Quarterback Rusty Houck scored one TD and passed for two more to lead the Mineral Ridge crew to its second season victory.

Greenford will attempt to get back in the win column when they travel to North Lima to battle the Zippers. Mineral Ridge will be at Atwater.

COACHING career for Dierks, who took over the head coaching position after graduating from Muskingum College last fall.

The Warriors dropped their opener against North Canton last week 8-6 while St. Mary's posted an 8-6 inaugural victory over Girard.

Jim Munno provided the punch for the losers as he romped over two TD's on runs of three and five-yards.

St. Mary's went ahead 6-0 in the second period only to be overhauled later in the half when Warrior quarterback Gary Barber tossed a pass to end Jon Yeagley for a TD with another aerial good for the points-after-touchdown.

Munno's second touchdown came in the third canto and put the Warren crew back in the lead 12-8. However, Baxter spoiled their chances for a victory as he scored tallies in both the third and fourth quarters.

Poland Registers Win Over Canfield

Coach Bill VanBroeklin's Poland Bulldogs notched an opening game victory Saturday as they edged the visiting Canfield Cardinals 8-6.

The win was Poland's 19th in a row while the loss was the Cardinals' second, having bowed to East Palestine 20-0 last week.

In the second period the Bulldogs drove to the 19-yard line of Canfield where Jim Kraja swept end and raced in for the score with Nestor Rotz plunging for what proved to be the winning points.

Canfield took the return kickoff and marched 70 yards with Jim Rhiel carrying from the one. However, a pass play for the points-after-touchdown failed.

Poland opens Tri-County League play next Friday against the Columbiana Clippers while Canfield will meet Warren St. Mary's in Warren in a Turnpike Conference Clash.

OUR BOARDING HOUSE

A word from THERON
at the Country Store

(If they want to ride they should pay)

I see where if you buy a house you get trading stamps from some realtors. The rate in the food business is one stamp with each 10¢ purchase. Now if you buy a house at this rate you would get 100,000 stamps on a $10,000 house, not 5,000 as some advertise. To me all stamp plans are a scheme to fool people.

5,000 stamps are worth about $10. Not very much on a $10,000 purchase.

Some automobile dealers are using this same plan to take business away from other dealers.

Rogers Farm Scene Again Of Old-Fashioned Threshing

By MRS. ERNEST PHILLIPS
SUMMITVILLE — Approximately 1,000 persons witnessed the second annual old-time threshing and baling by steam engine and separator Saturday at the farm of Harry Rogers, one mile west of Summitville.

Using a coal or wood burning 1924 Baker traction engine, a Frick engine and a 1891 10 H.P. Grtton, Rogers and his sons, Earl, Fred and Homer Rogers, two sons-in-law, Harry McKarns and Howard Bailey, and four grandsons, threshed 180 bushels of wheat and baled the straw.

Operations started at 10:30 a. m. and continued intermittently until 5:30 p.m.

Four veteran steam engine operators, John Adams, 93, of Louisville, Charles Unkefer, 83, of Minerva, Orin Kibler of Kensington and Elsie Adams of Salineville took part in the event.

Mr. Rogers, 74, began community threshing in 1912 and operated until 1954 as more and more farmers transferred to combines as a method of harvesting their grain. Last year he enacted an old time threshing day for the enjoyment of about 200 who watched and interest was sufficient to make another threshing worth while.

In marked contrast at the exhibition was a 1921 Rumley oil-pull engine, still operating, run by

Jealousy Shrivels Generosity of Town's Benefactor

ROCK PORT, Mo. (AP)—George Opp, who paid all of this town's taxes two years ago, says he is feeling the whiplash of jealousy among the townspeople.

As a result, he has closed his restaurant and the only hotel in town.

Opp, who is 70, owns several thousand acres of rich cornland. He had operated the 38-room hotel 32 years.

Two years ago, Opp paid the taxes for all Rock Port's 1,380 residents — $19,209. Last year he gave nearly $1,000 to send 4-H club members to Washington.

National publicity resulted, but with it came jealousy, he said. He didn't mind a little criticism, but he felt too many persons weren't supporting him.

"It's kind of a crazy story. It looks like it's awful hard to help a local community where you have been raised," Opp said.

"I'd be glad to go along like I did, but it seems like it's impossible with all that jealousy. They're throwing a lot of bouquets now—but it's just like the cow that kicked over the milk bucket. It's too late."

His publicity brought more than 6,000 letters, he said.

"We're still getting them. Most of them now are just begging."

traction of the disease had been established.

Some Canadian and New York authorities, a newsman noted, had halted Type III vaccine programs, while other communities were going ahead with immunization programs, and he asked Celebrezze to comment on this.

Celebrezze's comment was: "It's a question on which reasonable minds may differ."

Cataracts are the major single cause of blindness in America.

Deaths and Funerals

Waltz Infant

Infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Waltz of RD 2, Minerva, was stillborn at 8:15 a.m. Saturday at Central Clinic Hospital.

William A. Martin

William Adam Martin, 58, died at his home at 1288 S. Lundy Ave. at 4:20 p.m. Saturday of complications following an eight-month illness.

He was born in Wheeling, W. Va., Dec. 24, 1903, a son of Lawrence and Lena Schmidt Martin. He was married to Ula Thomas May 21, 1920, at St. Clairsville.

A resident here 10 years, coming from Bellaire, he was employed by the Mullins Manufacturing Corp. He was a member of the Calvary Baptist Church.

Besides his wife he leaves two daughters, Mrs. Evelyn Barritt of Bridgeport, O., and Mrs. Margie Ead of Columbiana; four sons, Kenneth J. and Oliver J. of Salem, Ervin T. of Wheeling and Earl E. Bridgeport; 13 grandchildren; three sisters, Mrs. Mary Bounds, Mrs. Elizabeth Hetzel and Mrs. Lena Marsh of Wheeling.

Funeral service will be held Tuesday at 2 p.m. at the Arbaugh-Pearce Funeral Home, with Rev. Leslie C. Wells, pastor, officiating. Burial will be in Hope Cemetery.

Friends may call at the funeral home this evening.

ed he will try to tack onto Mansfield's resolution formal recognition of a Cuban government-in-exile.

In advance of the session, Sen. Hugh Scott, R-Pa., offered a series of revisions that he said would strengthen the Mansfield resolution and "remove partisan political implications."

The House had planned to act on the President's request today under rules prohibiting amendments and limiting debate to 40 minutes. But several members objected, and House action was postponed until next Monday. The request will be taken up then under rules permitting greater debate and the offering of amendments.

Meanwhile, the House Foreign Affairs Committee considers resolutions on Cuba.

Scott discussed the Cuban situation over the weekend on a recorded radio program for Pennsylvania stations and on a local television program.

Scott said U.S. ships and planes would intercept ships carrying arms and Communist technicians to Cuba and "serve notice that these cargoes cannot be landed in Cuba."

"If they proceed," he said, "a shot would be fired across the bows, and closer and closer and closer until we took the risk of possibly having to sink some of these ships the Russians send over. This is drastic, but it is exactly what Theodore Roosevelt would have done."

NAMED TO CANCER UNIT

Mrs. Audrey Newtz of East Liverpool has been elected to the American Cancer Society's board of trustees from the Ohio division, according to Lou Moshey of Salem, president of the Columbiana County unit of A. C. S.

Mrs. Newtz will represent six counties in Ohio Medical District 6 on the 66-member board. Her term will be for two years and will begin Oct. 1.

Mrs. Newtz and Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Calhoun, 418 E. Chestnut St., Lisbon, were among 100 leaders at the Akron meeting Sunday. Mrs. Calhoun is executive secretary of the county chapter.

FINED FOR OVERLOAD

Truck driver Robert M. Weaver, 48, Toronto, was fined $25 and costs by Mayor Dean Cranmer after he was arrested today by the Lisbon State Highway Patrol for an overload.

Mrs. Jacob Gross

BELOIT — Mrs. Marguerite Gross, 95, died of complications at 9:55 p.m. Saturday in the home of Mrs. Margaret Wyss of Beloit, with whom she made her home.

Born in Berne, Switzerland, June 18, 1867, the daughter of Samuel and Eliza Egger Waffer, she lived in Beloit since early childhood and was a member of the East Beech Church. Her husband, Jacob, died in 1938.

She is survived by two brothers, Arnold Waffer of Minerva and Fred Waffer of RD 2, Beloit.

Services will be at 3 p.m. Tuesday in the church where the body will lie in state for one hour before the service, which will be in charge of Rev. Richard Bornen. Burial will be in East Beech Cemetery.

Friends may call at the Vogt Funeral Home in Sebring this evening from 7 to 9.

Hicy Cook

LEETONIA—Hicy Cook, 66, of R.D. 1, died Sunday at 1:45 p.m. in Copula Nursing Home.

Mr. Cook was employed by the United Engineering Construction Co. of Philadelphia, Pa., as an electrical supervisor for 40 years and in that capacity traveled throughout the United States. Born Nov. 22, 1895, at Green City, Pa., he was a son of Thomas and Sarah Granhen Cook.

He leaves his wife, the former Lucile Floding, whom he married July 2, 1917; two daughters, Mrs. Alfred Lee of R.D. 1 Leetonia and Mrs. Patricia Geobanelli of Minerva; three sisters, Miss Sarah Cook of Columbiana, Mrs. Leona Smith of Washington, Pa., and Mrs. Sam Woods of West Alexander, Pa.; three brothers, Harley Cook of R. D. 2, Leetonia, Donald Cook of East Rochester, and Thomas Cook of R.D. 2, Columbiana, and four grandchildren.

Services will be held at 3:30 p.m. Tuesday at the Woods Funeral Home, where friends may call this evening from 7 to 9.

Alfred Guchemand

WASHINGTONVILLE — Alfred Leon Guchemand, 78, of Walnut St. died of a cerebral hemorrhage at 7:15 p.m. Saturday in Salem City Hospital following an illness of three weeks.

Born in Vienna, O., Dec. 24, 1883, he was the son of Emile and Augusta Heney Guchemand. He was a member of the Order of the Sons of Italy of Leetonia. Formerly employed as a coal miner, he was later employed at the Crescent Machine Company of Leetonia.

Surviving are one brother, Emile of Washingtonville; two sisters, Mrs. Anna Phillips and Mrs. Amelia White, both of Youngstown, and several nieces and nephews.

Services will be conducted at 2 p.m. at the Wood Funeral Home in Leetonia by Rev. Paul J. Korntheuer, pastor of Trinity Lutheran Church of Washingtonville. Burial will be in Washingtonville Cemetery.

Friends may call at the funeral home this evening.

Delbert Flitcraft

ALLIANCE — Delbert Harry Flitcraft, 56, of 12296 Laurel Rd. NE died Saturday night of a heart attack.

Born in Salem, he had attended Alliance public schools. He belonged to the Nazarene Church.

Surviving are one son, Delbert, Jr. of Alliance; three sisters, Mrs. Clara Murphy of Alliance, with whom he made his home, Mrs. Gladys Blasman of Sebring and Mrs. Gertrude Bender of Alhambra, Calif.; three brothers, Albert Flitcraft of Minerva, Darrell Flitcraft of Sebring and Marion Beiler of Damascus.

Funeral services will be held at 2 p.m. Wednesday in the Sluss Funeral Home in Louisville. Burial will be in Alliance City Cemetery.

Calling hours are 7 to 9 p.m. Tuesday.

CAR HITS STOP SIGN

A stop sign at the intersections of W. 7th St. and Jennings Avenue was knocked over Saturday afternoon after being struck by a car driven by Arvela Delell of 485 E. 6th St., police reported.

APPOINTED — Career diplomat W. Walton Butterworth, 59, has been appointed by President Kennedy as ambassador to Canada. He will succeed Livingston Merchant, who has retired from the post.

Miller Appointed Juvenile Officer

LISBON — Former Chief Deputy Sheriff James Miller of Salineville was named juvenile officer this morning by Juvenile Judge Louis Tobin.

He succeeds Chris Pusey who died July 13.

Miller, who had been chief deputy under Sheriff Russell J. Van Fossan since Jan. 1957, assumed his position immediately at a salary of $425 per month.

He is married to the former Gilda Goddard and they have two daughters, aged seven and three.

A Navy veteran of World War II, he served three years in the transport division in the South Pacific. A former Salineville marshal, he also served as attendance officer for the county school system in 1953-1954 and was a case worker for the County Welfare Department.

Miller will have the southern part of Columbiana County as his territory, the same as Pusey. Juvenile Officer Cornelius Csepke of Salem will assume the chief juvenile probation officer's position. He has been juvenile officer since 1946.

graduation from a military test pilot school.

Possession of a degree in physical or biological sciences or engineering.

U.S. citizenship, age less than 35 at the time of selection and height 6 feet or less.

Recommendation from the individual's organization.

The Mercury astronauts are still very much on the flying list despite their age, space officials said. They explained the amount of time a man can remain on flying status is an individual matter, depending solely on his physical and mental condition.

Walter Schirra, scheduled to make a six-orbit flight in a Mercury capsule Sept. 28, is 39.

The new astronauts will be prime candidates for the Gemini project to put two men into orbit in a single capsule. Experienced spacemen probably will be paired with the new astronauts to take advantage of things learned in the Mercury program, NASA spokesmen said.

The Apollo project is designed to place two men on the lunar surface. Gemini will give the astronauts practice in making a space rendezvous, required by present Apollo plans.

Nine more astronauts are expected to be named about the time the Apollo flights begin.

Would-Be Burglars Foiled In Youngstown

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio (AP) — Would-be burglars cut their way into a Dollar Savings & Trust Co. branch office today and fled empty-handed just before police arrived.

Alerted by a silent alarm triggered by the intruders, seven carloads of police raced to the savings office in an East Side shopping center. They found three bags filled with all sort of burglary tools near the night deposit safe.

Detectives theorized the frustrated burglars got out in time because of a warning issued by a confederate who was outside monitoring police calls. They said the men inside probably had walkie-talkies.

Salem Airport Bond Sale To Begin

Canvass workers will begin this week to sell $100,000 of debenture bonds to finance the completion of the Salem Air Park, Inc., project.

The bonds will be simple interest bonds with a four per cent interest rate, payable over 10 years and sold in $100 denominations to citizens and private industry within the Salem area, according to Norman Weingart, chairman of the airport committee.

The Salem Air Park, Inc. is a group of interested people who recently purchased the H & E Airport on Rt. 45.

The airstrip will accommodate all planes up to two-engine craft.

Among the improvements completed by the Salem Air Park, Inc., is the engineer's work on the proposed blacktopped runway strip, 60-feet wide, and 3,100-feet long. The cement work on the 45 by 60 foot hanger floor also has been finished, Weingart said.

The committee members are: A. P. Anderson, Kerm Riffle, Fred Paddson, Carl Lippiatt, Joe Sox, manager, Vic Zerbis, Jr., Weingart, Al Fitch, legal adviser, and Wally King, financial adviser.

"Final plans for the sale of the bonds will be announced later this week," Weingart said.

Board of Education To Meet Tonight

Salary adjustments and a few changes in school personnel are expected to occupy the attention of the Board of Education at this evening's meeting in the Junior High School library at 7:30.

Superintendent of Schools Paul E. Smith will suggest some modification in the custodial staff and will recommend some salary adjustments for teachers who recently completed work for their bachelor's or master's degrees.

After the board meeting, Superintendent Smith will speak about the Salem schools at a meeting of the Brotherhood of the Emmanuel Lutheran Church in the Fellowship Hall at the church.

Kiwanians to Hear Mrs. Augusta Ibele

On the Kiwanis Club agenda for this week are a talk about Salem Home Nursing Service, and the continuation of collections for an October "white elephant" sale.

Mrs. Augusta Ibele will explain the work of the Salem Home Nursing Service at the club's noon meeting Thursday in the Memorial Building.

Norman Eckfeld, Kiwanis secretary, reports that the club has collected a "fair amount" of used toys, household furnishings and clothing for the "white elephant" sale to be held at the Centennial Park bathhouse Oct. 5 and 6. Collections have been made the past three Thursday evenings and will be continued to be made by club members Sept. 20 and 27 and Oct. 4. Salemites wishing to donate items for the sale may call 337-8100 for Thursday evening pickup. Proceeds will go to the club's welfare fund for underprivileged children.

The Kiwanis 19th Division has scheduled a dinner meeting for Sept. 26 in Steubenville at the Elks Club ballroom.

U.S. Officials Ponder Impasse In C & NW Strike

WASHINGTON (AP) — Government officials studied today the impasse in the 19-day Chicago & North Western Railway strike to determine what they might try next for a solution.

"We've got to make some move," an official said. "We just can't let both sides sit there and glare at each other."

The glaring had to be at long distance, however. The C&NW board chairman, Ben. W. Heineman, walked out of negotiations Saturday night. He said he would not return here until the striking Order of Railroad Telegraphers, AFL-CIO, agreed to accept recommendations of a presidential emergency board.

Heineman, as he had stated earlier, did not show up for a scheduled bargaining session today with representatives of the union and mediator Francis A. O'Neill Jr. Union President George Leighty said he would be at O'Neill's office.

"I hope Mr. Heineman will be there also," Leighty said in a statement. "Negotiations are the only way to end this strike."

The walkout, now in its 19th day, has idled about 15,500 workers and had a serious economic impact on a nine-state area.

The presidential board recommended that the union drop its demand for consultations on job eliminations.

Election

television about the issues of the campaign.

But the man on the street in Boston, Greenfield or Pittsfield seems considerably more interested in the question of whether Teddy Kennedy should have a chance to join his president brother and his attorney general brother in holding major office in Washington.

The first go-around on this matter won't be decided entirely by Democrats. Young Kennedy demonstrated a way with the party organization by winning its state convention endorsement for the nomination.

But there are 1,200,000 registered independents in Massachusetts. Ordinarily they don't bother about primaries. But this time a substantial number of them seem to be steamed up by the Kennedy-McCormack contest. Independents outnumber the 900,000 registered Democrats and 600,000 Republicans.

President Kennedy will vote in Boston's West End. Speaker McCormack will cast his ballot in Dorchester. Both have kept publicly aloof from the campaign. But their influence obviously has been felt in behalf of their favorites.

Lodge and Curtis approached the countdown with the former regarded as somewhat of a favorite. Lodge, bidding for his first elective office, went beyond personalities and state issues to strike out at President Kennedy's handling of international affairs.

Curtis, who is 69, banged away that the voters ought to "separate the men from the boys." In shots directed at Kennedy as well as at Lodge, he denounced "dynasty, immaturity and inexperience." Lodge is the son and the great-grandson of U.S. senators.
